Sen. Joe Lieberman (ID-CT): "I Really Am" Undecided About "Election Day." CSPAN's CHRIS STROHM: "Are you going to vote for President Obama for reelection?" SEN. JOE LIEBERMAN (ID-CT): "Well having decided to stay out of active politics and my own career this year. I'm going to enjoy the privilege that most every other American enjoys, which is going into the booth and voting privately on Election Day. I am glad to be out of the crossfire." CSPAN's GRETA WODELE: "Are you undecided at this point?" SEN. LIEBERMAN: "Yeah. I really am. It is a complicated decision and there this a lot left before the Election Day. Particularly the debates are going to be very important. I am exercising the glorious liberty that an Independent has, to not make up one's mind until one goes into the booth to vote."
